The Morbihan coast is less than an hour's drive. Within the village there is a small general store, a creperie, a couple of bars and a restaurant. The village is steeped in history and it was created in the 6th Century and there are references to a Monastic Community. There are several ancient chapels to visit and plenty of hiking trails. The village is classified as a Rural Heritage Municipality of Brittany. The airports of Dinard, Brest and Rennes offer direct flights to and from the UK. The nearest ferry ports are St Malo and Roscoff, but Cherbourg, Calais and Caen are other possible options. Drivers will find Ploërdut just off the D138 and D132 roads. Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty). The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days calling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.
