Property Description

Located in the heart of the historic center of Dol-de-Bretagne, and in the main shopping street, hides an astonishing duplex apartment with its volumes, its layout around the stone staircase in the tower of this porch house built at the end of the 15th century. Traces of the original openings are visible in the half-timbering, probably remodeled in the 17th century. Formerly the property of a family of antique dealers, it is distinguished by its traditional architecture and old-world charm. The exterior of the building has an elegant facade, decorated with architectural details typical of the region, with exposed stone and wooden shutters. The building blends harmoniously into the historic landscape of the city, reflecting centuries of history and culture. Upon entering, you discover an interior rich in character. The old parquet floors, high ceilings and stone walls create a warm and authentic atmosphere. Each room tells a story, with carefully preserved antiques and antique furniture, testifying to the former antiques owner. The building is spread over several floors, each offering stunning views of the cobbled streets and historic buildings of Dol-de-Bretagne. Large windows let in abundant natural light, illuminating the living spaces and accentuating the beauty of the architectural features. The interior requires complete renovation to restore the former glory of this family home where time has stood still. The building's past as an antiques dealer's home is also felt in the storage areas and offices, once used for the valuation and conservation of valuable antiques. These spaces can be redeveloped for various uses, depending on the needs of the new owners. This heritage property, full of charm and character, represents a rare opportunity to own an authentic piece of Dol-de-Bretagne's heritage, offering a life steeped in history and culture in the heart of one of Brittany's most picturesque towns.

Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty). The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days calling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.
