Property Description

Ideally located 20 minutes south of Agen, this beautiful château with character boasts large outbuildings, stunning views of the countryside and the Pyrenees, and 11 hectares of parkland, meadows, woods and a spring.

A large stone arch forms the entrance to the castle courtyard and its adjoining outbuildings. The living area of 533 m² is divided between the main castle and an adjoining apartment. The tower and the large outbuildings, totaling over 400 m² on the ground floor, complement the main structure. The roofs are in good condition, but the entire property requires renovation to restore it to its former glory.

Originally an agricultural estate, the property includes additional large outbuildings. A charming dovecote, in urgent need of attention, completes the buildings.

Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty). The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days calling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.
