Property Description

This tastefully renovated old house, with its atypical architecture in one of the most beautiful villages in the Périgord, was once a place of justice, but now it's a place of romance.

The stone staircase already speaks to you of history, leading you to the entrance hall with its old stone sink and then to the living room with its fitted kitchen and beautiful open fireplace. The atmosphere is there ... shower room, bedroom with its monumental fireplace (yes, monumental), lit by two windows, reversible air conditioning for added comfort.

A small terrace leads to the walled, intimate garden with views over the village rooftops and sunsets. An old door leads you into the narrow streets of the village. Cellar and small storage space.

This house is for two ... or for all because 25 weeks of rental were not uncommon in previous years.

Not far from the river and approx 7 km from Le Bugue.

Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty). The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days calling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.

Testimonials

my-french-house was by far the best online guide I found – and I trawled them all – to buying a house in France. It answers all your first questions practically before you've thought to ask.

C. BAUER – Sunday Times

Our French property purchase and move to France were made so easy with the help and assistance of my-french-house.com. They are a committed and professional business – we highly recommend them.
