Property Description

Located on Rue Paul Fort, between Place d'Alésia and Parc Montsouris, on the third and top floor of a charming 1900 condominium, this apartment to renovate with a surface area of 107 m2 Carrez is characterized by its absolute calm, its brightness and its undeniable potential.

An entrance distributes on one side an independent bedroom, on the other a kitchen and a living room offering a green view of the courtyard of the condominium then a bathroom and two adjoining bedrooms.

The whole is magnified by a period parquet flooring which has retained all the charm of the old. In the spirit of a house under the roofs, the upper floor serves a second kitchen then a superb living room magnified by the parquet flooring and period fireplaces.

The location on the top floor, the charm of the condominium and the absolute calm make this apartment to renovate a real opportunity for those who wish to create a living space that suits them.

Buying French Property Just Got Easier...

The purchase process typically starts once you've visited a property with one of our agents and you made an offer on a property. Once your offer has been accepted, the property will come off the market and our local bilingual expert will liaise with you and the notaire. The compulsory searches are at the charge of the owner / vendor and are carried out at this stage.

You would have already been informed about the property taxes and legal fees (that incl. the stamp duty). The agency fees are already included in the listed price on this document, there's no premium for the superior service we offer. You don't have to pay the deposit until the 'pre-contract' has been signed, and the 10 days calling off period has expired. It takes an average of three months to buy a property in France.

Testimonials

my-french-house was by far the best online guide I found – and I trawled them all – to buying a house in France. It answers all your first questions practically before you've thought to ask.

C. BAUER – Sunday Times

Our French property purchase and move to France were made so easy with the help and assistance of my-french-house.com. They are a committed and professional business – we highly recommend them.
