Jumilla is located in the province of Murcia, between the Mediterranean coast and the arid high plains of Castilla de La Mancha. The region is characterized by its wide valleys and high plains dotted with mountains at an altitude of between 320 and 900 meters above sea level.

Jumilla specialises in wines made from the Monastrell grape variety, which accounts for around 80% of the vines. It is the oldest region in Murcia, created in 1966. Since the 1990s, when the region's potential to produce quality wines was highlighted, Jumilla has attracted a lot of attention from the outside. Producers from other Spanish regions as well as foreign companies have set up wineries there.
